Dr. Stacy Wolfe started her career as a naturalist for the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. She moved to Florida and received a M.S. in Oceanography and a M.S. in Coastal Zone Management. Later, she completed a doctoral degree in Leadership.

For the past 6 years, she and her husband have owned and operated an eco-tour company called Wild Lime Adventures, which takes guests beyond the normal touristic types of experiences.

Join Audubon's Christmas Bird Count!

The Audubon Christmas Bird Count began in 1900 when Dr. Frank Chapman, suggested an alternative to the holiday "side hunt," in which teams had competed to see who could shoot the most birds. Instead, he set up a competition to count and compile records of birds. It has now become the longest-running citizen science survey.

Your active participation adds to this rich and important data collection, and this tradition occurs from December 14 to January 5 every year. There is no fee to participate, and counts are open to birders of all skill levels and Audubon's free Bird Guide app makes it even easier to learn more.
